

Monday 6th June 2020.

Good morning everyone,

I hope you have had a lovely weekend and are ready to start your learning for this week. Please keep sending your work, I continue to be amazed by the effort lots of you are putting in with your home learning. Ovika and Madison have shared their isolation room and they are just beautiful, outstanding designs! I particularly love the calmness of Ovika's design and her Lego posters (being a Lego fan myself!) and the bright, cheerful colours and flower in Madison's room. If you have created your design for the 4RY building then please send it so I can add it on 😊

Please feedback your thoughts on the writing from last week (instruction writing based on David Attenborough's Blue Planet II) and send me your final piece to check through, I'm looking forward to reading them!

If you haven't completed the maths quiz from last week please do so as I will be sending the modelling video to address common errors in the next few days.

Finally, The Black Country Dance Hub are offering free choreographic dances in weekly blocks. From the website:

We're offering a weekly on-line dance programme for children in school and at home. The project offers an original piece of choreography shared over four weekly sessions, which can be learnt at a time and location to suit you and your children. And to boot your children can be filmed and form part of a dance film at the end of the project, should they wish, but don't worry if they don't, it is optional. We're working with 2 professional dance artists to choreograph the dance piece so that it is suitable for different ages. <https://www.blackcountrydance.com/article/new-horizons>
